

and no: and said the Govrno: to find to g<sup>t</sup> place of Prisoner and he would then be satisfied that Krawator did b<sup>t</sup> long properly to the S<sup>t</sup> Towne of Chonosick, and Not to Nanticoke or Wicomico.
They further say that the Indian Prisoner whom they had already set up as the Murd<sup>r</sup> they did look upon as a Spirit and a condimned Person, and consequently in the Eye of Law a Dead man, and therfor the Empre<sup>r</sup> was much ashamed that such a One shold be sent to as to what he said before hims<sup>r</sup> that was, for ye that an Empre<sup>r</sup> and one instance they infircted on was that, i<sup>s</sup> said Prisoner had - reported that at Nanticoke Indians had built a house in the Woods in a remot place from the Towne where they lived, which if the English could find to be true, that any such thing was, they the great men now present would be bound to los<sup>e</sup> their lives as a Sacrifice the English, They were then asked for what reason they had brought those two Indian Prisoners to be delivered up, they replied that several Demands had by the English been made to have those Murd<sup>r</sup> set up more, that for their p<sup>r</sup> they cannot (after all y<sup>e</sup> care hevetc<sup>r</sup>) find any such, that they doe offeice the English are angry, & do resolv<sup>e</sup> to hav<sup>e</sup> them, and have often demanded their delivery, & they would as willingly do<sup>r</sup> if they could be found, for that they would live at Rass, and eat their bread with their Wives and Children in quietness if possible, and that therefore those two men who came prisoners with them did voluntarily (and freely without any Compulsion) surrend<sup>e</sup>d themselves a Sacrifice to the English in satisfaction for y<sup>e</sup> said Murd<sup>r</sup> they being Sons that had neverke their knowledge b<sup>t</sup> guilty of any murd<sup>r</sup> or other misde<sup>r</sup>ned<sup>r</sup> or offred to the English, or guilty of any crime among them selves.

Afternoon of y<sup>e</sup> same Day The Councell met again

Then<sup>r</sup> Govrno: & Councell give i<sup>s</sup> Indians to understand that they have well considered of what they had delivered in the Morning, and that we shold be very well satisfied if it were true that there were no: more concerned in y<sup>e</sup> murd<sup>r</sup> then that son whom they had already set up, that Col<sup>r</sup> Cursey should returne back with them to Nanticoke and disfourefit the Empre<sup>r</sup> and did hope a good peace wold reigne, but wheras they had now brought over two of their Indians Innocent Sons, and no: wa<sup>r</sup> guilty (as they say) of any murder or misde<sup>r</sup>ned<sup>r</sup> committed towards y<sup>e</sup> English or them selves, it was given them to understand that it was not our fashion to putt Innocent Sons to death, but would fnd them over w<sup>t</sup> Col<sup>r</sup> Cursey who shold keepe them in custody until such time as y<sup>e</sup> Befring was fully scawed, and wheras there was formerly two English Children of Dickenson and Watts taken by the Wicomico who had some time lived with y<sup>e</sup> Nanticoke, & then what they saw, already alledged that there are to be found no: other murd<sup>r</sup> than that one w<sup>t</sup> they have delivrd ups to us, and if they would desy<sup>r</sup> up those two Children, we would in hir
